I have known Garry Salomon, the author of the consumer's guide to New Jersey personal injury claims for more than five years. Like Garry, I am a personal injury and medical malpractice lawyer but I only practice in New York. When injured victims call me for an accident that they had in New Jersey, Garry is the only attorney and only law firm that I recommend. Having had the benefit of learning from Garry over the years, I can truly say that he is not only a remarkable individual but a fantastic attorney who truly cares about the people he represents. He and his partners, Sam Davis and Mark Saperstein are a remarkable group of lawyers who have developed a customer service based law firm designed to help injured victims in New Jersey. Garry's book is designed to help consumers understand how accident cases work in the state of New Jersey. It is designed to teach and educate you, the injured victim, how the basic legal process works and why you should never be ashamed to take advantage of obtaining compensation as a result of someone else's negligence. Like Garry, I find it to be so important to teach and educate our ideal consumers who are actively searching for information about their particular legal problem or their injuries. Garry's consumer guide does exactly that. It's a great starting point to learn how accident cases and personal injury cases work and what you need to know BEFORE you ever pick up the phone to call a NJ attorney or before you ever walk into an attorney's office. Imagine becoming a better informed consumer about how your type of case works BEFORE you ever call a lawyer to ask for help. Garry's book is just a starting point for learning more great information.
